HUMANITARIAN AID AND DISASTER RELIEF

Danimex is the world's leading all-round supplier of communication equipment and solutions for humanitarian organizations worldwide. We have gained a reputation as a reliable supplier, even during serious emergencies and under challenging conditions. A communication solution from Danimex includes programming, installation, technical support and technical training as well as supplying products such as two-way radios, repeaters and everything needed to build a complete communication system.

Our product portfolio covers the communication needs of a modern organisation, i.e. the communication between workers in the field, between vehicles moving across borders or between headquarters and local offices

Danimex is a permanent member of the working group on Emergency Telecommunications (WGET) within the framework of the United Nations.
